

ATG Access Ltd

ATG Access has a fantastic track record of supplying products and services to the world's most prestigious sites. This fantastic location in China is China's largest project since the Beijing Olympics in 2008.

The Shanghai Expo 2010 expects 70M visitors during the 6 month duration and most of these visitors will visit the main administration building where 71 ATG Globoll bollards have been installed along the front perimeter.

These bollards provide an aesthetically pleasing line of security along the full length of this giant building with vehicle entrances having automatic systems controlled by the buildings security officers.

This project was carried out in partnership with our exclusive agent for China, K-Max and their Shanghai Business partner.
